Celebrating Nine Outstanding Residents at Community Awards

Volunteers, business owners and community champions were honoured for the contributions to making Mississippi Mills a vibrant place to live, work and play at the fifth annual Mississippi Mills Community Awards.

Family, friends and members of Council gathered at Almonte Old Town Hall on May 28 to celebrate the recipients. Following the ceremony, guests enjoyed refreshments along with desserts and snacks sourced from local Mississippi Mills businesses.

This year's recipients:

- Jenny Sheffield, Allan Goddard, Jennifer Hoy, Bonnie McBain and Don Willey – Exceptional Volunteer
- Kris Riendeau and Sanjeev Sivarulrasa – Business Champion
- Brent Eades and Mary Rozenberg – Community Builder

"This year's recipients embody the very best of Mississippi Mills. They are mentors, leaders and collaborators," said Mayor Christa Lowry. "They bring passion, dedication and heart to everything they do. Their commitment to our community sets a remarkable example for all of us."

The Exceptional Volunteer award celebrates residents whose generosity and dedication strengthen the community through the gift of their time. Jenny Sheffield has been part of the cultural heartbeat of Mississippi Mills since childhood, growing up in local arts programs and continuing to champion theatre through the Almonte District High School Drama Club. She has a strong belief in the power of the arts to shape young people.

Landscaping expert Allan Goddard has never stopped beautifying Mississippi Mills, even after retiring from his Almonte Landscaping business. He continues to share his knowledge freely, collect and distribute native trees and plants, maintain public gardens and contribute significantly to projects like the Almonte Alameda.

Jennifer Hoy is a tireless volunteer whose leadership has deeply influenced the Mississippi Mills Youth Centre (MMYC), where she currently serves as president. Her commitment extends beyond MMYC to Home Hospice North Lanark, where she lends her skills to the Comfort Care knitting group.

Whether volunteering with her sons' sports teams years ago or helping children learn to read at Naismith Memorial Public School today, Bonnie McBain has always shown up for her community. Her volunteerism spans the Naismith Foundation, Puppets Up! International Puppet Festival and the Almonte General Hospital.

Affectionately known as "Mr. Light Up the Night," Don Willey has poured more than 30 years into this beloved holiday tradition. His enthusiasm is contagious and his behind-the-scenes work—from fundraising to recruiting volunteers and sponsors—ensures the event shines year after year.

The Business Champion award recognizes leaders who inspire through their vision and community spirit. Since 1998, Kris Riendeau, alongside her husband Rob, has operated theHumm, an economic engine disguised as an arts and entertainment publication. By encouraging residents to explore, attend, shop and invest locally, theHumm has become a cornerstone of community life, powered by Kris' creativity, energy and unwavering commitment.

Born in Sri Lanka and trained in law, Sanjeev Sivarulasa followed an unexpected path that led him to astronomy, photography and ultimately the creation of Sivarulasa Gallery. Twelve years later, the gallery has become a defining feature of downtown Almonte, known for its exceptional Canadian artists, professional curation and welcoming atmosphere.

Two outstanding Community Builders were honoured to close the evening. This award recognizes individuals whose long-term contributions demonstrate leadership, vision and dedication to Mississippi Mills. For more than a decade, Brent Eades has been a driving force behind The Millstone, a volunteer-run news platform that has become essential for local information, culture and connection. He has also built and maintained numerous websites for community organizations, strengthening their digital reach and impact.

Mary Rozenberg has a remarkable ability to unite people around projects that foster pride, remembrance and belonging. Her leadership in the Mississippi Mills Community Poppy Project and the Honouring Our Veterans Banner Program stands as a testament to her deep commitment to honouring others and building community.

Full profiles of these exceptional Mississippi Mills residents will be available on the Municipal website's newsfeed and social media channels.

Nominations for the 2027 Mississippi Mills Community Awards open in early 2027. Visit www.mississippimills.ca/CommunityAwards for more.

The Fireballs win it again at the 114th Eastern Ontario Firefighter Association (EOFA) Games

On June 20, the Mississippi Mills Fire Department (MMFD)'s Fireballs were crowned Eastern Ontario Firefighter Association (EOFA) Games champions for the third time in a row. Going up against 11 other fire departments at the Stewart Community Centre in Pakenham, the Fireballs took part in friendly competitions that challenged teamwork, speed, and precision skills.

The EOFA Games are a great opportunity to appreciate the dedication and commitment to protecting our communities our regional firefighters have, both here at home and in those of neighbouring municipalities.

Congratulations Fireballs!

A cultural icon: the Pakenham Five Span Bridge

As a gateway into Pakenham, the historic Five Span Bridge strikes awe into many visitors as they make their way across the Mississippi River. The impressive five arches are a rarity in Canada, maintained over the years so that the bridge may remain a national landmark of architectural excellence and heritage preservation.

The bridge was built in 1901, replacing an earlier wooden structure. At the time, Pakenham was a busy town, complete with lumber, flour, and wool mills, at least two general stores, and amenities for local farmers. An up-to-date bridge in this location was critical for the success of these commercial enterprises and mills.

Of course, when the bridge was originally constructed, it was intended for use by pedestrians, horses, and carriages. Once heavier, larger automobiles came along, the bridge faced increasing structural strain, compromising the future of the bridge. This led to the bridge being reinforced and widened in 1984, where the stones were carefully removed and catalogued before being reinstated into their original position over a concrete structure. The restoration allowed the bridge to continue serving its purpose under modern conditions.

After more than another 40 years in service, time has come for some more preventative maintenance. Lanark County is currently rehabilitating the bridge with masonry and stone repairs, road approach improvements, and improved lighting. This work is intended to extend the lifespan of the bridge so that its historic character may be continued to be enjoyed by the next generation of Pakenham residents and visitors alike.

While the mills of the 1900s have moved on, the village of Pakenham continues to bustle with small rural businesses and charming storefronts. We encourage you to continue supporting local by shopping at these businesses—it is worth the detour!

While our recent Public Information Centre (PIC) on June 22 may be over, there is still time to have your voice heard through our surveys and feedback forms. Read through the information from the PIC on our dedicated webpages and take a moment to fill out the surveys:

There are multiple water infrastructure projects as recommended by the Water and Wastewater Infrastructure Master Plan currently in the works:

- The Wastewater Treatment Plant and Pump Station Expansion
- The Northwest Watermain Loop
- The Well Capacity Expansion Project

Read more about these projects and provide us your thoughts by visiting www.mississippimills.ca/HowWeFlow.

The Solid Waste Management Strategy recommended reviewing an organics program and a centralized recycling depot.

The Province requires municipalities with a population of more than 20,000—which Mississippi Mills is projected to reach by 2038—to have an organics program. Let us know what sort of organics program you would be willing to participate in: www.mississippimills.ca/OPR.

For recycling depots, the Municipality is currently served by multiple, distant depots that are not always open. A centralized depot would make services more convenient for residents, increasing use and landfill diversion rates. Let us know what materials you would dispose if there was a centralized depot: www.mississippimills.ca/CDR.

Complete these surveys by Wednesday, July 15, 2026.

The Roads and Public Works Department is collecting feedback for three projects: A school zone safety review, a traffic calming policy, and a climate action plan.

The Municipality has completed a review of school zones in the municipality, and is now looking for feedback on which recommendations should be prioritized in implementation. Take the survey to let us know: www.mississippimills.ca/SZSR (QR code 1).

The Municipality is also in the process of developing a traffic calming policy, and is looking to know what your priorities are and what measures you would support: www.mississippimills.ca/TCP (QR code 2).

Finally, the Municipality wants to hear your thoughts on what carbon emission reduction areas should be prioritized to set our reduction targets: www.mississippimills.ca/CAP (QR code 3).

Complete these surveys by Wednesday, July 15, 2026.

Mark your calendars for a summer full of signature events!

Being friendly is not incompatible with having fun! In fact, "friendly town" Mississippi Mills is also colloquially known as "festival town," attracting visitors from all over to experience the charms of the Municipality.

Summer festivities kicked-off with a bang with Canada Day Eve celebrations in Pakenham, followed by Almonte's Canada Day events the next day. The inclement weather prevented Almonte's fireworks, so the Municipality has rescheduled the show for Thursday, July 30 at dusk at Gemmill Park.

Almonte Celtfest (July 3 to 5) celebrated its 30th year, bringing together visitors, vendors, and entertainment from all over to celebrate Celtic heritage.

Coming up on July 18, Claytonfest highlights the best of small villages. Almonte residents can take the festival's shuttle to the event to enjoy the music and drinks without worrying about the drive home.

In August, puppets from around the world take over the streets of downtown Almonte for Puppets Up! (August 8 to 9). Visit www.puppetsup.com to see what puppet shows are playing around town.

Then round out August by joining the sea of tartan kilts at the North Lanark Highland Games (August 22) to watch dance, drum, and heavy-weight competitions.

Keep the excitement going in September with the Almonte Fair (September 11 to 13) and Fibrefest (September 12 to 13). The Almonte Fair has been an agricultural tradition since 1858, celebrating the rural way of life. Fibrefest is organized by the Mississippi Valley Textile Museum, hosting more than 80 textile vendors and over 30 workshops to spread the joys of crafts and fabrics.

Heat illnesses: What to look for and how to prepare

While summer days out on the town or on the beach can be fun, one should know the signs of heat illnesses to enjoy the heat responsibly. Excessive exposure to heat can cause heat rash, heat cramps, heat exhaustion, and even heat stroke, all of which can be signs of danger to your health. If you experience any of the following symptoms, consult a healthcare provider or connect with Health811 (Call 811 or visit health811.ontario.ca to chat online. TTY: 711):

- Heat rash: Red or pink rash usually found in areas where sweat collects.
- Heat cramps: Painful muscle cramps, caused by dehydration and lack of nutrients from excessive sweating.
- Heat exhaustion: Heavy sweating, weakness, dizziness, nausea, vomiting, and fainting.
- Heat stroke: Headache, dizziness, confusion and fainting; skin may be hot and dry or damp. This is a medical emergency—seek help and cool down right away.

The best way to prevent heat related illnesses is to be prepared. Stay hydrated by drinking plenty of cool liquids—water is the best choice. Stay cool by dressing in light-coloured, loose-fitting clothing. Wear a hat and apply sunscreen to prevent burns. During the hottest hours of the day (typically noon to 2 p.m.), stay inside air-conditioned buildings. On the hottest of days, the Municipality offers its libraries and community centres as cooling stations for residents to beat the heat in. Check the municipal website for cooling centre hours and locations (www.mississippimills.ca/CoolingCentres).

At home, take steps to keep your place comfortable. At night, open the windows to create a cross-breeze. During the day, close awnings, curtains, and blinds to reduce heat energy entering your home.

Finally, be sure to check in on your friends, family, and neighbours daily, especially if they are at increased risk (such as the young, the elderly, and those who do not have access to functioning air conditioning).

For more information on how to be prepared for heat, visit www.ontario.ca/BePrepared. Residents can also learn more from the Southeast Public Health: www.southeastph.ca/extreme-temperatures.

Burn risk statuses: What do they mean?

You may have noticed a “burn risk level” gauge on the digital sign outside of the John Levi Community Centre, but do you know what these levels mean?

The Municipality regularly monitors current climate conditions to assess its burn risk level:

- Level 1 (Low Risk): Conditions are optimal for burning.
- Level 2 (Moderate Risk): Conditions for burning are suitable, but please use caution due to dry conditions.
- Level 3 (High Risk): High risk for burning, use caution due to dry conditions, have extinguishing agents readily available.
- Level 4 (Extreme Risk): Only supervised campfires, have extinguishing agents immediately available.
- Level 5 (Total Burn Ban): No burning no matter what due to dry and dangerous conditions.

The level set at the time takes into account many different variables including future conditions, so while the grass may still look green at times, the risk of a fire becoming uncontrolled is still there. Responding to careless fires ties up valuable firefighting resources.

Summer reminders, waste collection, and more:

Messages from Public Works

Where can one dispose RV waste after a fun summer camping trip?

RV road trips, marshmallows roasting on the campfire, and hikes through the bushes all combine to create the greatest summer memories, but logistical questions arise after the end of the trip, like “where do I dispose of the holding tank waste of my RV?” Luckily for you, the Municipality offers a free, self-service RV disposal station in Almonte—the only catch is that users must complete the mandatory form to help track the amount of waste is disposed.

For the safety of staff on-site, the disposal station is closed during the day. Residents and visitors can access the station seasonally between May 15 and October 15, on Mondays through Fridays between 5 and 8:30 p.m., and 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on weekends and holidays.

Find this RV disposal station at 482 Almonte St, Almonte, on the corner of the Ottawa River Power Corporation garage, between the Mississippi Mills Fire Department Station 1 and the Almonte Civitan Club hall.

For more information, or to access the mandatory form, visit www.mississippimills.ca/RV-Disposal-Station
